GENERAL REVIEW.

CHICAGO, January 1, 1872.

J. W. PRESTON, ESQ., President:

SIR: In presenting to yourself and the members of the Board of Trade the "Fourteenth Annual Report of the Trade and Commerce of Chicago," an apology is due in view of the late day on which it will reach your hands. This is owing, partly to delay in its preparation, and partly to the increased time required in printing and electrotyping; although, when the difficulties incident to an entirely new establishment, hastily put in running order, are considered, it must be confessed that the printers (Messrs. Horton & Leonard) have performed their part most creditably. At the time of the great calamity which befel Chicago on the 8th and 9th of October last, more than one-third of the labor in preparing this Report had been performed, and the partially completed sheets of "copy" were in condition to be finally completed without unnecessary effort or delay. All were destroyed, and with them nearly all the data from which they were compiled. The statistical books of the Board, without an exception, were burned, and all the material used in preparing the Report that remained were a few of the revised monthly reports of some of the railroads, and a portion of the condensed weekly statements of receipts and shipments. By the kindness of the Union Merchants Exchange, of Saint Louis, the Board was supplied with the files of the Chicago Daily Tribune from January 1st to October 7th (as also of several previous years), and Messrs. Howard, White & Crowell generously tendered the use of their files of the Daily Commercial Bulletin. From these, in connection with data furnished by the railroad officials, and such scraps of reliable information as could be otherwise obtained, the Report, as now presented, has been compiled. The statistics furnished by the railway officials—many of them obtained at great labor and expense, owing to the entire destruction of books and papers—has been most valuable, and is very gratefully acknowledged. It is to be regretted that, in consequence of the total destruction of all records in the Custom House, as full returns of our lake commerce cannot be obtained as in former years. The statements of railway traffic are also in some cases incomplete, but it is believed that in the leading articles of the city's commerce usually reviewed in the Reports of this Board, the figures herewith presented are substantially correct. If erroneous in either direction, they are under, rather than over, that which would be strictly correct.

The year, although darkened by a most unparalleled catastrophe, must, in a general business view, be regarded as a most satisfactory one, perhaps exceeding in substantial advancement any of its predecessors. In all branches of the city's trade the first nine months of 1871 witnessed great prosperity. There were no features of marked excitement or speculation in any direction, but a steady and vigorous growth in solid commercial enterprises, shared in and supported by the great interior, whose interests and ours are so closely allied. And although in one short day the stores, warehouses, manufactories, goods, and the homes, with their sacred treasures, of a large portion of our people were swept away and destroyed—thousands finding themselves greatly reduced, or perchance penniless—still, the business upon which the prosperity of all depended seemed interrupted but for a moment, and resumed its accustomed volume so soon as the smoke of the devouring element had cleared away and facilities for its care could to any fair extent be reorganized or improvised. Long years of toil may be required to make good to individuals the fearful losses of those lurid hours, still the great wheels of commerce and trade will revolve as before, and it is safe to say that to-day the future of our city promises as grandly as it has ever done in the past.

In cereals, the business of the year just closed has vastly exceeded any that have gone before; our aggregate receipts of grain and flour (reduced to wheat) being 83,518,202 bushels, the largest in any previous year being 69,680,233 bushels, in 1868. So also in live stock the increase has been very marked, and as prices have been well maintained, it may be assumed that the farmer finds himself in easy circumstances and in the enjoyment of a rich return for his toil. In the various branches of manufacturing industry in the city, satisfactory results have been achieved, and in the reorganization and rebuilding of the city it is expected that manufacturing will be more fully developed, and better provided with facilities for its successful prosecution. It is of great importance to our city that manufacturing such articles as can be produced profitably at home should meet with liberal encouragement, and certainly a broader field for enterprises of this sort is open among us than is occupied.

Previous to October, building enterprises had been prosecuted steadily, but not so many elegant business houses had been erected as during some previous years; nearly all the more costly erections were located in what is now the "burnt district." Some private residences, equal in point of cost or elegance to almost any in the country, were in course of erection, and are unharmed. The improvement of the recently established public parks has been carried forward with much vigor, and will still be continued, though on a reduced scale.

During the early summer a very carefully canvassed accounting of population was had, resulting in determining the city's population at that time to be 334,270. By October 1st it was scarcely less than 350,000. Immediately after the fire there was a large exodus, but most of those leaving the city have already returned, or their places have been filled by new-comers, so that at the close of the year moderate estimates place the population at about 325,000.

Our banking facilities were somewhat increased during the early part of the year by the organization of two new National Banks, and immediately after the fire the Bank of Montreal—the largest banking institution in America—consummated an arrangement previously contemplated by establishing an agency in this city. This, it is believed, will be of great assistance to our merchants, as well as highly remunerative to the parent institution. That Chicago can profitably employ additional well-managed banking capital would hardly seem to admit of question, in view of the exceedingly satisfactory results that have attended all our National Bank enterprises. It is hoped that at no distant day the value hitherto, and at present, set upon the use of money in this city may be very materially reduced. The general character of bank paper, being largely secured by undoubted collaterals, would seem to justify a lower rate of interest than ten per cent., and if an abatement could be secured in this regard, business would undoubtedly, in many branches at least, be greatly stimulated.

While for details of figures representing the business in some of the leading items, reference is made to the tables and statements herewith, brief reference to some may not be out of place in this connection. As in former years, the trade in the products of the farm has formed a very large and important element in the general business; in fact, it lies at the very basis of all other industries in the city.

FLOUR.

The business of milling in the city has not been as large as formerly, and for the early months was only very moderately remunerative, becoming much more so during the early autumn, however, and at the time of the fire it was being prosecuted to a much greater extent, and more profitably, than for some time previously. Six large mills were destroyed; these, in 1870, manufactured more than half of the flour made that year, leaving not half enough to supply the current city consumption. The total manufacture in the city for 1871 was 327,739 barrels, and the receipts were 1,412,177 barrels, being a falling off as compared with 1870 of 116,237 barrels in the former, and 353,860 barrels in the latter. The hope entertained a year since that different and better arrangements would be adopted in regard to the delivery of wheat to our city mills has not to any extent been realized, and the system of requiring our millers to pay an onerous and largely unnecessary charge for storage and expenses is still persistently adhered to. Whether or not this system will at no distant day entirely destroy the business of manufacturing flour in this city is a question of grave concern, and challenges our attention.

WHEAT.

In wheat, the business has been large, though less in the aggregate than that of 1870. The deliveries after January of the crop of 1870 were less than many had anticipated. The new crop was harvested somewhat earlier than the average of years, and was secured in remarkably fine condition, and proved of very superior quality. The yield per acre, however, does not appear to have been as large as in some previous years, nor was it as large as was anticipated previous to harvest. The receipts for the year amount to 14,439,656 bushels, against 17,394,409 bushels in 1870. The movement in wheat at the time of the fire in October was at its height, the receipts of the week ending October 7th being the largest of any week in the history of the city. The sudden derangement in business of course tended for a time to divert a very large amount to other points, and as the season was drawing to a close, and our people were for a time illy prepared to properly care for an active business, a considerable falling off in receipts resulted, and when again trade resumed its usual course, it was found that the bulk of wheat intended for market during the autumn had been disposed of. Prices have been well maintained throughout the year, opening at about 110 cents for No. 2 Spring, and closing at 120 cents; the highest point touched was 132 cents in August, the lowest 99½ cents, earlier in the same month. The supply yet unmarketed is not estimated as large, and it is not improbable that all will be wanted before another harvest.

CORN.

The receipts of corn have exceeded by far those of any previous year. The crop of 1870 was of superior quality and large in amount, and as the supply of old corn was well exhausted, the crop of 1869 being much below the average, the new found ready purchasers as soon as it could be placed in market. As the season advanced the supply seemed almost limitless, and as the good quality and heavy yield of the growing crop became well assured, farmers seemed inclined to close out their stocks at the then current prices. The new crop of 1871 began to appear in market in September, which was probably earlier than on any previous year in this State, since which it has arrived very freely—in fact, the supply has been limited only by the means obtainable to transport it; so that, notwithstanding a movement eastward to the full capacity of our lake marine, the winter closed upon us with full 850,000 bushels in store at this point, which had increased by the close of December to 3,113,000 bushels. Everything now points to a complete blockade of storage facilities at an early day, resulting from necessity in the cessation of the present free movement. In fact, it seems probable that by loading all the carrying capacity now in our harbor we shall still be blockaded, with little hope of relief until some time after the resumption of lake navigation in the spring. The receipts have been 41,853,138 bushels in 1871; in 1870 they were 20,189,775 bushels, and in 1866 they were 33,543,061 bushels, which were the largest of any year previous to 1871. Prices have ruled remarkably steady during the year, though slowly declining under the continued heavy receipts, and as the markets of the world became supplied. In times of great surplus in the United States of any given item of production, our markets must be controlled by prices at which it can be taken by exporters. While in 1869 and the early part of 1870 exports of corn were insignificant in amount, they have risen during the past year to respectable proportions, and should the European demand continue at fair prices, our farmers may realize good returns for their vast production of corn during the past year. Without a remunerative export demand there would seem no hope but that prices must settle to a point that would effectually cut off remote shipment and leave a large amount on the hands of distant producers to be disposed of by other means than its sale in the grain. At the close of the year, No. 2 corn is but a shade above 40 cents, the highest point touched during the year was 56½ cents in March.

OATS.

The trade in oats has also been large, receipts amounting to 14,789,414 bushels; the previous year they were 10,472,078. The trade has been without excitement, and not as largely speculative as in some former years. Prices closed at about 31½ cents for No. 2.

RYE.

The movement in rye has been larger than ever before, receipts amounting to 2,011,788 bushels. The demand has been of a legitimate character, considerable amounts being shipped by car-load in almost every direction. The market closed at 62½ to 63 cents per bushel.

BARLEY.

This uncertain and unreliable grain has also been received in larger measure than in any previous year, the total being 4,069,410 bushels, against 3,335,653 bushels, the large receipts of 1871. The price of No. 2 opened in January at about 75 cents; by April it had advanced to 105; thence, till the new crop began to arrive, the tendency was down. New opened at about 65 cents, declined to 51 cents in November, and closed at 60 to 61 cents per bushel. The quality of the crop of 1871 was fair; its condition as to color and other important qualities was good—indeed, much above that of most of the late years.

LIVE STOCK.

Chicago still maintains her supremacy in this branch of business. In both cattle and hogs there has been a gain over any former year. In hogs, the increase has been very marked, being over 40 per cent. more than 1870. The receipts have been, of cattle, 543,050; of hogs, 2,380,083; and of sheep, 315,053; the total value of stock received aggregating full $60,000,000. Cattle have ruled fairly active and steady during the year. At times the market has been overstocked for a few days, which has been promptly remedied by withholding cattle until the surplus had been disposed of. Hogs opened in January at $5.80 to $6.25, gross, steadily declining, with slight fluctuations, until the close of the year, when they were quoted at $4.00 to $4.60.

PROVISIONS.

The trade in meats has been of vast proportions, being active during nearly the whole year. Speculation has been largely confined to mess pork and lard, while cut meats have been in good demand for consumption. Chicago cured meats have a high reputation, and this city has assumed a position largely establishing prices for the whole country. Our pork packing greatly exceeds that of any other point, and seems still on the increase. Fortunately, the great fire did not sensibly interfere with this branch of business, the principal packing houses being located at points remote from the "burned district."

The packing for the season of 1872, to December 31st, was 693,676 hogs—same time last season, 419,414 hogs. Mess pork, in the early part of January, sold at $18.37 to $19.00, but before the close of that month had advanced to $23.00 for well-known brands, but from that point declined, until in August sales were made as low as $12.00, since which a firmer feeling has prevailed, though no great advance has been realized; at the close it may be quoted at $13.00 to $13.25.

LUMBER.

No reduction in this branch of business has been observable; in fact, the receipts of lumber proper, have been larger by over 20,000,000 feet than in 1870. Receipts of shingles have been a trifle less. Receipts of the former figure up 1,039,328,375 feet; of the latter, 647,595,000. Prices, both by cargo and in the yards, ruled very steady until about August, when some advance was realized. After the great fire, owing to the pressing demand, an advance on some grades was established of $3.00 to $5.00 per thousand feet. At about the same time that a large part of our city was destroyed by fire, very great destruction was suffered by the same element in the districts of country from whence a large portion of our lumber supplies are received; many large and important mills were destroyed, and thousands of acres of timber lands were burned over, greatly reducing the value of such, though not entirely destroying all the lumber. It is feared the loss of the mills referred to may be seriously felt in the lumber supply of the coming year when so much will be needed in the rebuilding of our city. It is understood that arrangements have been consummated for the shipping hither by rail of large quantities of lumber during the winter, and already considerable has been received. In the October fires some thirteen lumber yards were burned in the city, involving a loss of about 60,000,000 feet of lumber, besides other items of stock. At the close of the year the stock in the city is about 234,500,000 feet of sawed and hewn pine lumber and timber. Less than a year since, by about the amount destroyed by fire.

WOOL AND HIDES.

The returns of receipts and shipments of wool and hides are believed to be somewhat below the true figures. The current business in these articles are not reported from day to day with any great degree of accuracy, and in the loss of specific data, in some cases only approximate figures could be reached. Where estimates have been made, it has been my endeavor to keep clearly within the facts. The trade in wool was moderately active, and prices were quite steady during the early part of the year; later, a material advance occurred, which has been well maintained to the close. Weekly prices of the various grades will be found under the appropriate heading. The trade in hides has been steady, with only trifling fluctuations, throughout the year.

TRANSPORTATION.

In this great question, so intimately connected with the prosperity of the great interior of our country, no especially new features have been developed during the year. The large grain, live stock, and provision movement has caused a higher range of prices in freights eastward than for some years past; especially is this true as regards freights hence by lake. Indeed, the past has been, for the vessel interest, more profitable than several of the recent years. In the matter of establishing any State control over our local railway lines, for the correction of alleged abuses, it does not appear that any substantial point has been gained, and the question seems as far from solution as ever. It was hoped by many that the establishment of a State Commission, especially charged with the duty of investigating this question, and who should be clothed with power to prosecute infractions of law, would result in great good to the people of the State, either by a prompt appliance of the proper remedy for abuses charged to exist, or satisfying the public mind that its suspicions were unfounded. Such a Commission has been in existence for six months, and have made their report as required by law. It does not appear that any very determined attempt has been made to either correct abuses, if such exist (and most people think at least some do exist), or to show the error of public opinion in this regard. Nothing can be more desirable than that the feeling, grown to great intensity, on the part of our people, that in some way, or many ways, their rights are being trampled upon by railway corporations, should be allayed, and, if possible, removed.

FOREIGN TRADE.

The books and memoranda of business at our Custom House being destroyed, no figures can be given as to either the value of goods imported and exported, or the amount of duties collected. I am advised, however, by the Collector of Customs that direct importation has been much larger the past year than previously. Very large amounts of tea have been received in bond via San Francisco, this trade increasing rapidly since the completion of the Pacific Railway. A line of fine steam propellers has been placed upon the route between this city and Montreal, connecting at that city with ocean steamers. Many of our merchants have imported largely by this route, and with very satisfactory results both as to time and cost. A short time before our great fire, one of the railway transportation lines (Merchant's Despatch) doing business between this city and New York, was bonded under the provisions of the act of Congress for encouraging direct importations to interior cities, and considerable quantities of goods were imported by that means. It is believed business will be greatly benefited by this mode of importation, as the goods can be delivered more promptly, in better condition, and at much less expense, than by passing, as hitherto, through the process of opening and repacking in the customs depots of the seaboard cities. Shipments on through bills of lading hence to Europe have been quite extensive, as may be observed by reference to the table exhibiting the same more in detail. Besides the shipments there noted, a very large amount of provisions and lard, and probably other property, have been purchased in this market for European account, and shipped, but receipted for only to New York—ocean freight arrangements being made in that city.

The business between this city and Canada has been larger than that of the previous year, although, as in other items, figures cannot be given except as to shipments of grain and flour; these will be found under the head of "Statement Showing the Entire Movement of Flour and Grain."

CHICAGO'S CALAMITY.

Of course, in this place, no extended account of the great calamity which visited the city on the 8th and 9th days of October last will be expected. Other and abler pens have written the history and incidents of those dark days, and the whole civilized world has become familiar with the terrible destruction of property that laid in ashes the fairest portion of our city, and has left us but the shell of our former magnificence and grandeur.

Still, a brief record of this ever memorable event, not only in our own, but the world's history, may be deemed as proper. The fire, which commenced its ravages on the evening of Sunday, October 8th, at about nine o'clock, originated in an uninviting portion of the West Division of the city, full one and a half miles from the Court House, the nominal center of business. On that side of the river it fed on material of comparatively little value, and while swift in its march and unrelenting in its greed for the destruction of everything lying in its pathway, it was not until it had leaped the river and commenced its ravages in the more substantial buildings, and heavy stocks of goods on the South Side, that any serious alarm was created. Here, where the ingenuity of man had erected supposed protections against widespread conflagrations, the flames spread with frightful rapidity, leaping from one costly structure to another, and from square to square, on the wings of the autumn gale, the volume of which, at the time, was little less than a hurricane. In an incredibly short time nearly the whole of the business portion of the South Side, embracing about three-quarters of a square mile in area, was one vast sea of flames, while the citizens, many of whom had become panic-stricken, could think of little else than the saving of their lives, helplessly beholding their goods and valuables feed the insatiate destroyer. Not an occupied or completed building, great or small, in the track of the wind, on this side of the river escaped total destruction, and, in fact, the flames spread several squares directly against the gale. From the South Side, the messenger of destruction crossed the main river to the North Division, devastating the beautiful homes, and their surroundings, of the wealthy, and alike laying waste the humbler dwellings of the less favored and poorer classes, ceasing only when material to furnish it further sustenance had been exhausted. At an early hour, or soon after the fire had gained a footing in the South Division, the flying embers had ignited the building in which was located the pumping works by which the city was supplied with water from Lake Michigan, and soon the magnificent engines were disabled, and the last hope of saving anything within the reach of the destroyer had vanished. Although the fire raged but about twenty-two hours, yet, within that time more than 2,100 acres were completely burned over, and in all that vast area less than a half-dozen buildings of any sort remained standing. At least 17,000 buildings were entirely consumed, and nearly or quite 100,000 people were rendered houseless, many thousands of whom escaped with nothing but the clothing upon them. The loss of life (which may never be even approximately known) was doubtless several hundred, while the money value of buildings and goods consumed was scarcely less than $175,000,000, to which may be added, probably, 25 per cent. on the nominal value of the ground burned over; this latter loss, however, is believed to be only temporary and nominal, and will be recovered at no distant day. Already some portions of the "burned district" are salable at much higher prices than the same ground would have commanded before the fire. To say that, in the presence of a calamity like this, the citizens of Chicago stood appalled, and, for the moment, to some extent disheartened, is not discreditable either to their good judgment or their acknowledged spirit of enterprise. While scarcely as yet the work of destruction had been stayed, and before our suffering citizens could gather together their scattered families, the whole country was aroused to active sympathy, and as the tale of loss and of suffering was repeated by the click of the telegraph throughout the civilized and christian world, an almost universal response came back to us, alike touching and encouraging to our hearts and creditable to our common humanity. Never can Chicago forget, nor can she ever repay, the generous expressions and kindly acts of the thousands who in the day of her distress so nobly, so grandly ministered to her pressing necessities. If the 9th day of October, 1871, may be counted a dark day in the history of our city, surely many days thereafter were bright days in the world's history, for on them was displayed a generous charity and a fellow-feeling for the suffering and distressed such as the world had never till then witnessed. Food, clothing, and all manner of supplies were immediately despatched to meet the pressing wants of the moment, and millions of dollars in money were collected in aid of our stricken people. As much of this greatly needed and most highly prized aid and assistance was gathered under the immediate dictation of our brethren representing commercial organizations, an acknowledgment to them here is deemed appropriate, and is most gratefully recorded. Our commercial friends in Saint Louis, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee, responded upon the instant, and from each large delegations of prominent citizens, with those things that we most needed, were promptly in our midst, and set at once to the benevolent work of feeding the hungry and clothing the destitute, and for many days their representatives, both ladies and gentlemen, remained among us assisting our own people in providing shelter and care for the many thousands who had not where to lay their heads. Organizations in other cities, near and more remote, were no less active in our behalf, many contributing money only, others contributing needed supplies quite as acceptable and quite as necessary. It might seem invidious to mention some, to the omission of others, when all have done so much, but as public acknowledgments (save in exceptional cases) do not appear to have been made, except for actual cash received by the committee having charge of relief matters, it may here be stated that vast amounts of aid were received in various kinds of supplies from (besides the cities already named) Boston, New York, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Allegheny City, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Indianapolis, Lafayette, Logansport, Fort Wayne, Richmond, Louisville, Kansas City, Leavenworth, Dubuque, Burlington, Clinton, Marshall, Pella, Cedar Falls, Quincy, Galesburg, Mendota, Peoria, Ottawa, Joliet, Geneseo, Springfield, Decatur, Bloomington, Aurora, Dixon, Rockford, Freeport, Oshkosh, Racine, and many other cities and towns not within the knowledge of the writer. Certain it is that over two hundred and fifty car-loads of supplies were received as the result of the first gush of sympathy for our suffering people. Many of these contributions arrived ere yet the smoke had cleared away, and were distributed either by delegates sent in charge or by such organization as then existed. In order to assist the mayor and other city authorities, and at their suggestion, this Board appointed a committee of one hundred of its members to assist in the work of caring for these supplies, and under their direction a large part of these early contributions were properly distributed, the work being performed with care and fidelity, and as much of prudence and discrimination as the circumstances would permit or justify. That these supplies contributed their full value to the suffering thousands, then if ever needing assistance, none who shared in or were familiar with the work of distribution will question. In fact, the donors here alluded to may rest in the consciousness of feeling that what they contributed, to a very large extent, supplied a necessity when that necessity was most keenly felt. They have their reward in a deep-seated and lasting gratitude on the part of the beneficiaries and of every citizen of Chicago who has chosen to enquire as to the facts, or who was an attentive reader of events as they passed immediately succeeding the fire.

The direct loss of this Board consisted mainly in its hall and office furniture, books and records; of the latter it will be found difficult or impossible to secure a restoration, but by the kindness of sister associations and societies, already many volumes have been received that will in part supply our necessities in that regard. A loss that cannot be made good, and which the patriotic members of the Board will greatly regret, is the destruction of the battle-worn flags and other mementoes of our Board of Trade Regiments and Battery, as well as the records of their organization and interesting incidents connected therewith.

The building occupied by the Board is to be rebuilt at once—indeed, within less than a week of its destruction, the Chamber of Commerce corporation had decided upon its restoration, and the work was immediately commenced and has been prosecuted with vigor promising completion as early as such a building can be properly constructed, and it is now expected that by the anniversary of the destruction of the old, the Board will be in occupancy of the new building. The plans adopted, while in outline much the same as the former edifice, will be more tasteful and ornate, and embrace important and valuable improvements in the portion devoted to office purposes.

The rebuilding of the city has been prosecuted with marked rapidity—indeed, many substantial business structures are already completed and occupied, and others well advanced, while the preparation in the way of removing debris, laying foundation walls, and perfecting plans, has been pushed with all possible vigor, and with the opening spring Chicago will rise as never before a city rose, and it is now confidently expected that ere the lapse of two years the business portion of the city will be restored to at least its former beauty, and in point of solidity and durability vastly superior to the old. The residence portion will be slower in recovery, thousands already having erected temporary residences which may serve the necessities of many for years, or at least until fortune may enable them to do better. The people generally are cheerful and hopeful, and notwithstanding the fearful losses sustained it may with truth be repeated that the future of Chicago was never more promising than at the opening of the new year of 1872.

I am, Mr. President,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHAS. RANDOLPH, Secretary.

RULES FOR THE INSPECTION OF FLOUR.

1st.—SOUND. To be strictly sound, free from any or every defect or fault causing either smell or taste.

2nd.—WEEDY. Flour made from wheat that has come in contact with a noxious weed, imparting an unpleasant smell, which it is supposed will cook out.

3rd.—UN SOUND. All Flour not "Sound" or "Weedy," whether the unsoundness is derived from the condition of the Wheat, or has originated in the Flour. The Inspectors are required to note on their certificate the character of the unsoundness, such as musty, hard sour, soft sour, or slightly unsound; the latter explanation of the unsoundness being intended to indicate that the Flour will probably work sound for immediate use, and is but slightly depreciated in value.

4th.—All Flour that inspects "Sound" and full weight, shall be branded, and none other; except that when part of a lot proves so far below sample as to be clearly different, the Inspectors may omit branding the barrels that are below, and it shall be their duty when working to a sample, to state on their certificate the number of barrels above or below the sample, and have a sample or samples of the same, which the parties may examine ; also, to state on their certificates, when the Flour is "unsound" or "weedy," the number of barrels of each description, and also, when practicable, the number of barrels that are so stained or out of condition as to depreciate the market value of the Flour. When Flour has been overhauled and cleaned on account of being wet, the Inspectors shall note on their certificate, "wet and cleaned," either "by Inspector" or "by Owner," as the case may be. The Inspectors shall satisfy themselves in regard to weights, and in case they deem it necessary to strip some of the Flour, they shall be entitled to twenty-five (25) cents for each barrel so stripped, (if it proves to be short weight) in addition to the regular fee of two cents per barrel, for inspecting and branding. The charge for stripping shall be paid by the seller. No certificate shall be issued for a part of a lot of Flour inspected, without the consent of both the buyer and seller. The Inspectors shall only be liable to damage for any discrepancy between the Flour for which a certificate is issued, and the sample which they retain of the Flour so inspected, unless the buyer hands them the sample to inspect by, or the standard sample is used.

5th. The Directors shall establish grades of "Extra" and "Superfine," with a proper standard for each grade, samples of these standard shall be furnished to the Flour Inspectors, and also to the Secretary of the Board. It shall be the duty of the Inspector to furnish monthly (or oftener if directed,) to the Flour Inspection Committee, for the use of the Secretary of the Board, the standard samples that they are working to.

6th. Whenever desired to do so by both parties to a trade, the Inspectors shall inspect by such standards, under the same rules which govern inspection by sample ; it being understood that in such trades the Inspector's certificate of "sound, full weight, and equal to standard of extra," (or "superfine") shall be satisfactory, and in no other respect is inspection by grade to vary from the rules established for inspection by sample.

7th. In all cases of claims for errors in inspection by grade, the final test shall be by the standard samples, in the care of the Secretary of the Board.

8th. Besides the stencils already in use, the Inspectors shall provide others, stating the grade, as well as the month of inspection, and whenever desired by either buyer or seller, the latter stencils shall be used. But no "unsound," "weedy," or "light weight" Flour shall be stencilled in any way by the Inspectors.

9th. Flour shall be sold on the basis of one hundred and ninety-six pounds to the barrel. In case of short weight, the buyer shall be allowed at the rate he pays, and three-fourths of a cent per pound on same for freight, and, in addition, five (5) cents per barrel for the expense of refilling.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE INSPECTION OF PROVISIONS

For the examination of Provisions sold as "Regular," it shall be the duty of the Inspector (or his deputed assistants), on receiving notice, to go to any packing house or warehouse in the city, to examine provisions, in such quantities as may be required, selecting the same in such a manner from the lots specified, as in his judgment will give a fair sample of the whole.

If, upon examination, the property is found in all respects up to the requirements of the classification of grades adopted by the Board of Trade, he shall issue certificate to that effect, which certificate shall state the number of packages, pieces or pounds examined, and also the number of packages, pieces or pounds in the lot to which the examination is intended to apply, and that the cooperage (if any) is in good merchantable order and condition. In the case of Lard, no certificate for inspection shall be issued unless every package is examined; but, on the request of the owner or person ordering the inspection, the Inspector may examine a part of a lot, and issue a certificate of such examination, stating the number of packages examined, and also the whole number of packages in the lot.

When necessary to remove property for the convenience of examination, it shall be the duty of the Inspector to send for the same, that a fair sample may be obtained.

In no case should a certificate be granted on samples delivered by the seller.

The Inspector shall be entitled to receive as compensation for examining Provisions, as follows: For beef and pork in barrels, five dollars for the first five barrels, the Inspector furnishing labor and other requisites, and seeing that the property is properly re-packed and re-brined, and fifty cents per barrel for each additional barrel examined; payable by the buyer if regular, and by the seller if rejected, and cartage when removed; and for bulk or boxed meats, twenty-five cents per one thousand pounds, payable by the buyer. For inspecting lard, five cents per package, payable by the buyer if accepted, or by the seller if rejected, and for stripping lard, one dollar per package, to be divided between buyer and seller.

It shall be the duty of the Inspector when requested by the owner, either at any packing house, warehouse, or in yards provided by the Inspector, to overhaul and inspect Provisions according to the qualifications and classifications authorized; two hundred pounds of meat, with abundance of good salt, to be repacked into each barrel, and cooperage to be put in good order; each barrel of provisions that is sound, sweet, and free from any or every defect, to have grade and date of inspection branded thereon, and the word "Repacked," as hereinafter specified, and any portion that is defective, to be branded in like manner, "Rusty," "Sour," or "Tainted," as the case may be; the said brand to be placed with the Inspector's brand across the regular packer's brand; such pork, according to the grade or quality, to be classed as "Repacked, 200 lbs."

The Inspectors shall use metallic letters and figures, marking-iron or stencil, for the dates and class of inspection.

It shall also be the duty of the Inspector to put his metallic brand, marking-iron or stencil, on all samples of provisions in tierces or barrels that he inspects; and he shall pass no Pork Products in tierces or barrels as "Regular," unless the real packer's name, date, and the weight (except the weight of barreled pork) of the product contained therein, are branded according to these Rules, on the head of each package.

Should the Inspector be called upon to inspect Pickled Meats, and upon examination he should be of the opinion that the number of pounds required by these Rules had not been packed, he shall not pass it as regular, but shall refer it at once to the Committee on Provision Inspection, who shall investigate, and if a satisfactory explanation can be given or arrived at, they shall instruct the Inspector to proceed and inspect, and pass it; but if not satisfactory to the Committee, they shall, in their judgment, make the fact known to the Provision trade in any way they may think most proper.

Contents of each package of Pickled Meats must show a reasonable uniformity in weight according to its class.

It shall be the further duty of the Chief Inspector, during the packing season, to visit frequently the different packing houses to see that provisions are properly dated and branded at time of being packed.

NOTE.—Up to 1850 only the aggregate valuations in the several counties were reported to the State officers, and from 1852 to 1857, inclusive, a few counties returned only the aggregates; hence the details of Personal Property and Real Estate Valuations are not complete for those years. In 1867 and 1868 the details of Valuation are not entirely correct, owing to changes by the operation of the equalization law; since 1868 the Valuations are as equalized. The total Valuations in each of the several years are entirely correct and official. The Valuations of Property for Taxation are, at the present time, not over one quarter of the actual cash value of the property assessed.

The State Debt, as noted, represents it as it stood on the 1st of January in each of the several years to 1868. In 1868, the Debt is noted as it stood December 31st. In 1869 and 1870, as it stood December 1st. In 1871, as it stood December 31st. $250,000 "Revenue Deficit Bonds" are to be issued in January, 1872, on account of appropriation to relieve Chicago for advances for deepening of the Illinois & Michigan Canal.

NOTE.—From 1861 to 1862, inclusive, a Lamp Tax of half a mill to two mills was levied on certain portions of the city, and is included in the above Total Tax. Prior to 1860 the details of Valuation for Real Estate and Personal Property are not obtainable. The City Debt, as noted, represents it as it stood on the 10th day of February, in 1852 to 1854, inclusive; on the 1st day of February in 1855 to 1861, inclusive; on the 1st day of April, 1862 to 1871, inclusive; and on the 1st day of January, 1872. The amount of debt for the year 1868 is not obtainable. The valuations for 1871 are believed to be about sixty per cent. of the real value of the various kinds of property assessed, probably even less than sixty per cent. on some classes of Personal Property.

REPORT.

CHICAGO, April 1, 1871.

S. H. McCREA, Esq., President :

SIR: Herewith please find the Annual Statistics of the Provision Business, compiled and published in accordance with the rules of the Board. I submit them without comment, other than to say they have been prepared from such material as I have been able to collect, and I believe they may be considered substantially correct, or, at least, as near so as matter of this kind can be secured. It is presumed that other publications have superseded the necessity of this, except as matter of future reference, and hence more time has been taken in its preparation than would have been allowable, had the publication been intended for prompt information to the trade.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHAS. RANDOLPH, Secretary.

PORK PACKING IN THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY.

The following statement, showing the number of hogs packed during the seasons of 1870-1 and the two previous seasons in the Mississippi Valley, is condensed from the most reliable data available, and is believed to be substantially correct, although there may be some points at which small numbers of hogs were packed that are not included. For the seasons of 1868-9 and 1869-70 the figures are repeated from last year's report; more points are included in the report for 1870-1, and it is quite probable omissions occurred in last year's figures.
